A Peek into Last Week

Last week's focus was all about feelings. We read stories about the many types of feelings and we talked about how learning about emotions can help us better understand the characters in a story. We discussed how to those feelings feel on the inside and how they may affect our choices on the outside. We added addition fluency activities into math workshop and collected and graphed data about our favorite type of weather. Next week, we will focus on story settings, continue addition fluency practice and weather theme study.

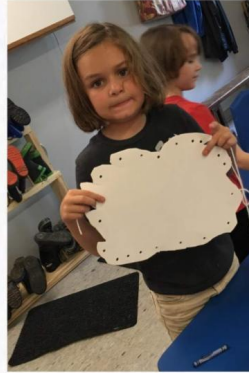

STUDENTS CREATED VOCABULARY CARDS TO TEACH OTHERS THE MATH WORDS WE HAVE LEARNED.

EXPLORING LIGHT AND SHAPES

SEWING AND STUFFING CLOUDS DURING CHOICE TIME.

BOOK BUDDIES

We read "Ish" and painted our own ish-pictures.
